BE PART OF THE "GO UN-VIRAL" CAMPAIGN TO COMBAT COVID AS FILM DOC SERIES EXPLORES PRISON REFORM, RACISM & WRONGFUL CONVICTIONS.

Major humanitarian campaign with 501 (c) charities raising awareness and designing & distributing Personal Protection Equipment (PPE). Face masks, sanitizers etc to the needy vulnerable segments of society, such as the prison population.

This groundbreaking campaign & documentary series explores real world solutions for prison reform, criminal justice accountability & fairness, and combating racism in the new world of Combat COVID..

The COVID Crisis has put an unprecedented strain on our society- especially in draining the resources of our front line of defense: hospitals, medical professionals and prisons across the country.

Many innovators, companies, and charities have stepped up in profound ways to ensure donations of PPEs arrive to outfit hospital workers everywhere. But this is still just the tip of the iceberg of an ongoing need for help in extremely high-risk environments of the homeless, welfare and prison populations.

several prominent activists have teamed up with charities to create, coordinate and distribute customize products and solutions _____ and _____ to raise $_____ so that we are able to donate the necessary soap, hand sanitizer, and personal protective wear to the most needy populations. It is our hope that we can save lives and at the same time support our front lines of defense

Alongside tax deductible contributions towards the charitable organizations like the American Justice Alliance , we have a wonderful team of people including medical experts and designers that are generously donating their time freely to further this cause. The team has already worked hard to set up relationships with manufacturers and are things ready to go as soon as we've raised the money.

Please help us give a voice to the underrepresented Combat Covid and stop the destruction you or your loved ones may also be vulnerable to

American Justice Alliance

We are a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, approved by the IRS as a tax-exempt, charitable organization.

Our primary purpose is to ensure a fair trial for every defendant in a criminal case, without which "justice for all" would ring hollow. In instances, where due process was clearly violated and where evidence of factual innocence was not presented to the jury/adjudicators (sometimes due to "newly discovered", but in some instances, as a result of it being withheld by some malicious police/ prosecutors) the need to ensure post conviction relief could not be more compelling.

What?

What are the exact products?

Avvakend

- Hand sanitizer. ( also alcohol free)
- Pipes
- testing equipment

Anything else we need to be transparent about in terms of manufacturers/shippers/where the products are going?

Why start with prisons?

Our panel of experts have confirmed that Prisons are inherently set up to act as a breeding ground for infectious diseases, if one were to run rampant. People sleep 12 to a room, hundreds dine together in a big hall, and there is limited movement, with most being restricted to indoors at this time. Inmates are given one bar of soap per week to be used for both personal hygiene and laundry. This ration barely lasts the week, and a large number of prisoners don't have the money to buy a second bar. At the same time, workers are coming in and out of the prison, having had contact with and exposure to the outside world without the proper protective gear

As we know, our prison system is overcrowded and often filled with people fighting wrongful conviction cases. In a recent episode of Everyday Injustice Podcast by Davis Vanguard Media, one such wrongful conviction case was highlighted. In the episode, we heard powerful testimony from Alliance counsel Attorney Timothy Milner and Clemency Advocate and founder of Can Do Clemency, Amy Povah.

“I think for those of us who have been touched personally by the tough on crime era...it leaves an indelible mark on our soul. And you either become part of the solution or you bury your head in the sand. ,,.....i was sucked into this vortex...in 1989 when the feds busted into my home the in the hollywood hills...and threw me in the proverbial hotseat and said i was looking to 20 to life for conspiracy charges in a drug case unless I would cooperate and help them basically prosecute my estranged husband’s case which was a drug conspiracy case.”

Mr. Milner comments “Prisoners, they don’t have a voice... This is life and death. If we just wait and see this is what we could have done, people are going to die, prisoners are going to die. The set up right now is unfair, we need some forward thinking visionaries to help out” “It is time, even though we’ve all got a lot on our plate, because we all have to deal with the pandemic, we have to stop and give a voice to those who don’t have one... We need to help all prisoners who have got a situation where their lives are in danger, who, no matter what they were sentenced for, it was not supposed to be a death sentence but now it is”.

inmates at RJD correctional facility in San Diego, was also interviewed. RJD was built to hold 2400 inmates; it has 3900. He says morale is at an all time low and that inmates are kept separate from each other, except at meal time (where 150 of them gather together), yet none of the staff members entering the prison are wearing masks or any other personal protective equipment to protect the inmates. He says staff are also only being asked a couple of questions as a screening process to enter work, “so we are quite concerned about our close proximity to staff.”
